

Warehouse TERRADA Becoming a Member of Digital Archive Promotion Consortium

- We are going to contribute the progress of digital archive and contents industry -

Warehouse TERRADA (Shinagawa, Tokyo / CEO: Yoshihisa Nakano) is pleased to announce that we became a member of Digital Archive Promotion Consortium which was established in April 2017. Development and utilization of digital contents is an integral factor for progress of industrial and academic advancement, and it is an urgent task in Japan to organize and utilize the infrastructure. The consortium was established to pursue the major challenges such as to grow and develop the industry related to various digital archives in Japan, enhance the relationship with contents related industries, facilitate the standardization of related techniques, and make policy proposals for organizing the infrastructure.

Warehouse TERRADA takes full advantage of our expertise in the use of space as we pursue technical improvements in storage and restoration. Our storage technologies for items that require high expertise such as media including films, videos and music tapes, valuable books, confidential documents, artworks and wines have been receiving a great reputation by each industry. Since we have been engaged in digital archive business as a part of our media storage service, we agreed the importance of digital archive and the concept of the consortium, and decided to join the consortium as an organizer. Warehouse TERRADA is going to contribute to the development of digital archive and digital contents through the consortium.
